Bartender Accused of Threatening to Poison Boehner's Drinks

(NY Times) A bartender who worked at House Speaker John A. Boehner's Ohio country club is facing federal charges after the authorities accused him of threatening to shoot Mr. Boehner and poison his drinks, according to court documents recently unsealed. The documents stated that, "Hoyt advised that he often poured drinks for Boehner and could have already put something in his drink, but he did not. Hoyt stated that no one checks the drinks he poured for Boehner, and it would have been very easy to slip something into his drink." It was not clear Tuesday night whether Mr. Hoyt was in custody, either in or out of a hospital. The United States Capitol Police led the investigation.

Murder charges pursued in Albuquerque police shooting of homeless man (LA Times) A New Mexico prosecutor on Monday said she was pursuing murder charges against two Albuquerque police officers involved in the shooting death of a homeless camper last year, a process she vowed would be more transparent than the grand juries that were convened but failed to indict officers in Missouri and New York. Her decision comes at a time of intense scrutiny of police tactics after last summer's fatal shooting of an unarmed black man in Ferguson, Mo., and the chokehold death of another unarmed black man on New York's Staten Island, both of which led to confrontational weeks-long protests. The Albuquerque Police Department has been criticized for a string of fatal confrontations and was investigated by the U.S. Justice Department, which in April said it had found a pattern of excessive force by officers.

Charlie Hebdo attack: Rush to buy new 'survivors' issue'

(BBC) Five million copies are being printed - a week after Islamist gunmen murdered 12 people at its offices and five others in subsequent attacks in Paris. The cover shows a cartoon depicting the Prophet Muhammad weeping while holding a sign saying "I am Charlie". Al-Qaeda in Yemen claimed the attack on the magazine in a video purportedly from the group. It is believed earlier cartoons of the Prophet prompted the attack on the magazine. Copies in France quickly sold out this morning. Editors then decided to increase the print run to five million. Normally, only 60,000 are printed each week.

Indonesia investigators hope to get clues to AirAsia crash in days

(Reuters) Indonesian investigators began examining the black box flight recorders from an AirAsia passenger jet that crashed more than two weeks ago, and hope to unlock initial clues to the cause of the disaster within days. Divers retrieved the flight data and cockpit voice recorders this week from the sunken wreckage of Flight QZ8501, which lost contact with air traffic control halfway into a two-hour flight from Indonesia's second biggest city Surabaya to Singapore. All 162 people on board were killed. The recorders were lifted from the bottom of the Java Sea and sent to the capital, Jakarta, for analysis. Both were found to be in relatively good condition.

South County Zone Functional Exercise, Coastal Region

- The exercise will take place today from 0800 1300 hours.
- · Cal OES Coastal Region staff will be present serving as region/state liaison.
- The exercise will provide opportunity for representatives from governmental agencies, nongovernmental organizations and private sector companies to assess their ability to coordinate response activities while enhancing the operational cooperation between city and county EOCs.

Exercise Scenario:

 A multi-jurisdictional, multi-agency response to a credible threat to numerous critical facilities including schools and technology companies.

• Exercise Objectives:

- Operational Coordination: Establish and maintain a unified and coordinated operational structure and process that appropriately integrates all critical stakeholders and supports the execution of core capabilities.
- Operational Communications: Ensure the capacity for timely communications in support of security, situational awareness, and operations by any and all means available, among and between affected communities in the impact area and all response forces.
- Public and Private Services and Resources: Provide essential public and private services and resources to the affected population and surrounding communities, to include emergency power to critical facilities, fuel support for emergency responders, and access to community staples (e.g., grocery stores, pharmacies, and banks) and fire and other first response services.
- Public Information and Warning: Deliver coordinated, prompt, reliable and actionable information to the whole community through the use of clear, consistent, accessible and culturally and linguistically appropriate methods to effectively relay information regarding any threat or hazard and, as appropriate, the actions being taken and the assistance being made available.

Exercise Locations

- There will be three Emergency Operation Centers (EOC) activated for this exercise. The Op Area and cities participating will include the following: San Mateo Operational Area EOC; South County Zone EOC; City of East Palo Alto EOC *; City of Menlo Park EOC *; City of Redwood City EOC *; Town of Atherton *; and the Town of Portola Valley EOC.
 - * Will participate in the exercise at the South County Zone EOC.

Cal EOC Incident - 2014 Drought

SOC / Inland REOC remains activated in support of 2014 Drought

WEATHER

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION:

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA AND CENTRAL COASTAL AREAS:

Eureka Weather:

Dry conditions are expected today as high pressure persists for one more day. A series of frontal system will move through Thursday through Sunday bringing periods of rain across Northwest California.

Medford Weather:

Most valleys are expected to experience fog or freezing fog this morning. Do not expect the fog to last through the morning before clearing occurs. Precipitation will return beginning late Thursday, breaking late Friday, and returning on Saturday.

Reno Weather:

High pressure building into the Sierra will allow valley inversions to develop with reduced air quality this week. There is less of a chance for widespread precipitation this weekend as the main energy is directed into the Pacific Northwest, however, periods of light rain and high elevation snow is possible north of a Portola-Lovelock line. A ridge is expected to develop near the West Coast heading into next week.

San Francisco Weather:

A ridge of high pressure will remain in place over the California coast maintaining slightly warmer than normal temperatures and dry weather through Wednesday. A weak frontal system moving across Northern California will bring rain chances across areas mainly north of the Golden Gate Friday and Saturday.

WEATHER

CENTRAL CALIFORNIA AND SOUTHERN SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY

Sacramento Weather:

Dry weather expected through the remainder of the week except for precipitation chances and light amounts of rain across the far northern portion of the state beginning Thursday night and into the weekend. Areas of night and morning valley fog continue.

Hanford Weather:

High pressure will control conditions over Central California through the weekend. Dry weather with an offshore flow will prevail through the period with milder than normal afternoon temperatures. Areas of dense fog can be expected each night and morning in the San Joaquin Valley.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA:

Los Angeles Weather:

Weak to moderate offshore flow and high pressure will bring a warming trend through the weekend mainly south of Point Conception. As the ridge of high pressure flattens, minor cooling is expected early next week.

Extreme Southwestern California Including Orange, San Diego, Western Riverside and Southwestern San Bernardino Counties:

Unseasonably warm and dry weather will prevail for at least the next 7 days. Offshore winds will be strongest through the Cajon Pass and along the western slopes of the Santa Ana mountains today. Conditions will become more favorable for gusty winds in the San Diego County mountains/valleys and the Banning Pass Thursday. There is little to no chance for precipitation for the next 7 days.

Southeast California Weather:

Much drier air will filter in today. High pressure will return for the remainder of the week with gradually warming temperatures through early next week.
